Supervisors and coaches between professional expertise and social commitment

An international Forum of the Association of National Organisations for Supervision in Europe (ANSE) and the German Association for Supervision (registered association – DGSv e.V.)

Friday, 21/09/2012, 12.30, to Saturday, 22/09/2012, 13.00, Berlin

- Today, ANSE represents more than 8.000 supervisors and coaches in 22 European countries.
- The forum offers experts of the practical, educational and scientific spheres an open space to present, get to know and assign the profiles of supervision and coaching in the different countries of ANSE network.
- The intention behind the forum is to point out that and how the profession supervision already today takes up its positions to questions of social development - differently in the European countries.
- The forum shall help the profession supervision to take a stand cross-nationally on questions of social development in Europe.
- The intention behind the forum is to encourage supervisors and coaches, their national professional associations and their European umbrella organisations to get involved equally in professional and social aspects.
- The forum is to be a place of European collegueship and underline the manifold virtue of supervision and coaching.
- The forum is to use the condensed experiences and perspectives of the participants and draw upon their preliminary considerations: What shapes supervision and coaching in the prospective country? Which professional/conceptual/commercial challenges impend? Which social issues call for supervision and coaching?
